

Project Updates:

The work on the park is progressing nicely. The capping for the wall has arrived and we will start placing it on Saturday, Sept 15. We are currently working on the brick circle around the fountain and the paths leading out of it. The electrical work is almost complete by Buzz and the water hookups are being done today (Sept 13). We will be working every Wednesday night for at least two more weeks if daylight holds up and every Saturday till the snow flies. We should be placing more top soil by next Saturday and seeding it (we will need help with this). The goal is to have all the brick paths complete this fall and top soil and grass seed in place. Lion Al and his employees are building the entrance sign for us (made out of steel tubing and railway spikes) and hopefully we can put that up this year as well. Lion Dave.

Today's giggles....

Little Johnny's goat was hit by a car, and unfortunately, died. Mom and dad tried their best to console their young son. "You know, Johnny, it's not your fault the goat died, it was just fate." But Little Johnny would have none of it. So, in a last gasp attempt, Little Johnny's dad said, "He's probably up in Heaven right now with God. He'll be happy there, so you don't have to feel bad anymore." Little Johnny asked, "What would God want with a dead goat?"
